

steme  e

For Project
Demand Management

A Modernized Portal for Optimized Digital Engagement

When it comes to operational efficiency, one platform should centralize all demand management processes and activities to cover the complete project demand management life cycle, from discovery to successful launch.

Introducing StemeXe for Project Demand Management, a one stop shop portal that, unlike other systems, can integrate with existing applications to save your previous investments while providing a modernization portal that increases digital engagement.

Challenges

A flexible system for great results

Managing project demands can be a challenge if not done properly. Demands need to be filtered, prioritized, assessed, and scheduled, which creates an obvious need for digitalization.

Lacking a proper system usually presents the below challenges:

- Insufficient insights about the demands' route
- Inability to properly estimate efforts
- Difficulty for stakeholders to filter and prioritize projects
- Inability to properly handle the approval process
- Absence of essential visibility over projects' health
- Poor team collaboration

The Solution

The key for an ultimate project demand management experience is having all demands centralized in a single comprehensive system. What organizations need is a system that provides them with a seamless user journey, informative updates, and a more interactive, collaborative process. This eliminates redundant efforts and provides the stakeholders with a clearer picture of what's on the horizon.

StemeXe for Project Demand Management

With the right system in place, you can bridge the gap between demand and final delivery to achieve better results.

StemeXe will provide you with:

- Discovery
- Education
- Automation
- Engagement
- Visibility
- Launch

Capabilities of the Solution

Discovery

Connect with your internal and external stakeholders

As we've learned from the digital takeover, social media has proven to be a powerful tool in building user interactions.

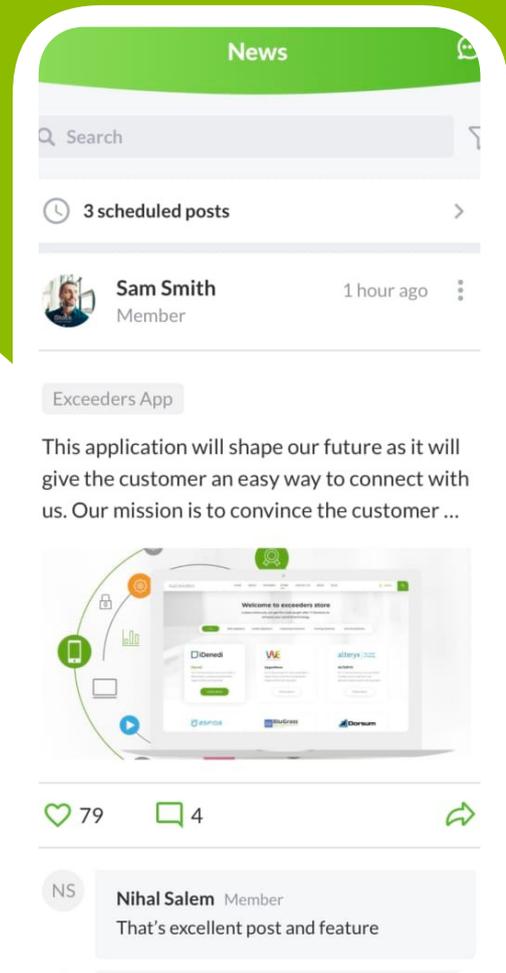

With StemeXe, projects can be accounted to be shared on a wider scale for direct engagement with internal and external stakeholders.

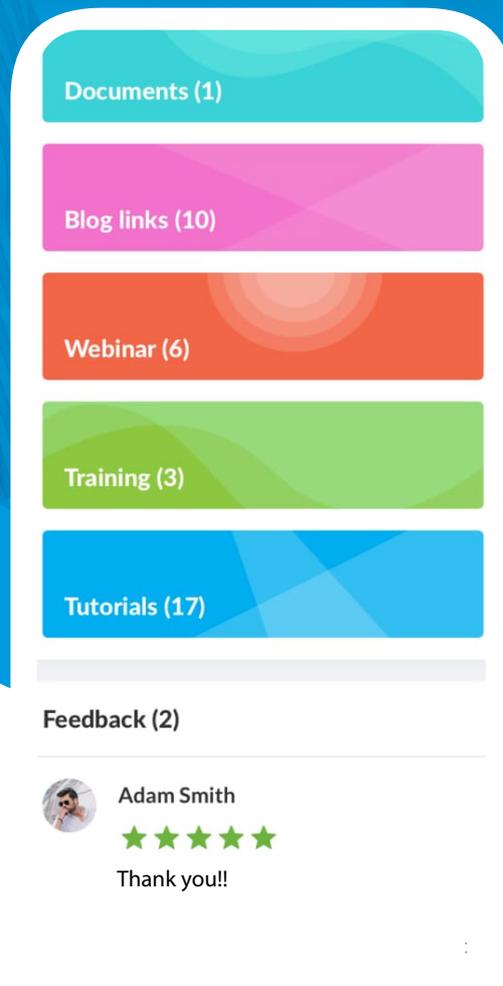

■ Post private or public

■ Post private or public

■ Share to social media

■ Share to social media

Education

A powerful digital library

With StemeXe library, you can build the project category workplace to store all valuable ideas and discoveries. Stakeholders will be more informed to make better decisions on projects priorities and will eventually build the best business case.

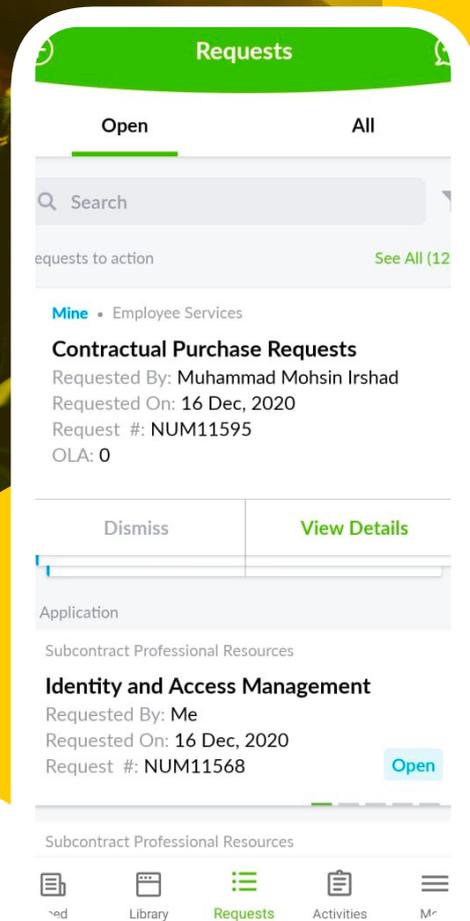

- Web pages
- Data curation
- Data creation
- Integration with automation system
- Feedback
- Different communication channel

Visibility

View project health with a tap of your fingertip

Stakeholders will have the ability to view the projects and their health anytime, anywhere. They can comment, assign tasks and even submit official requests for corrective actions.

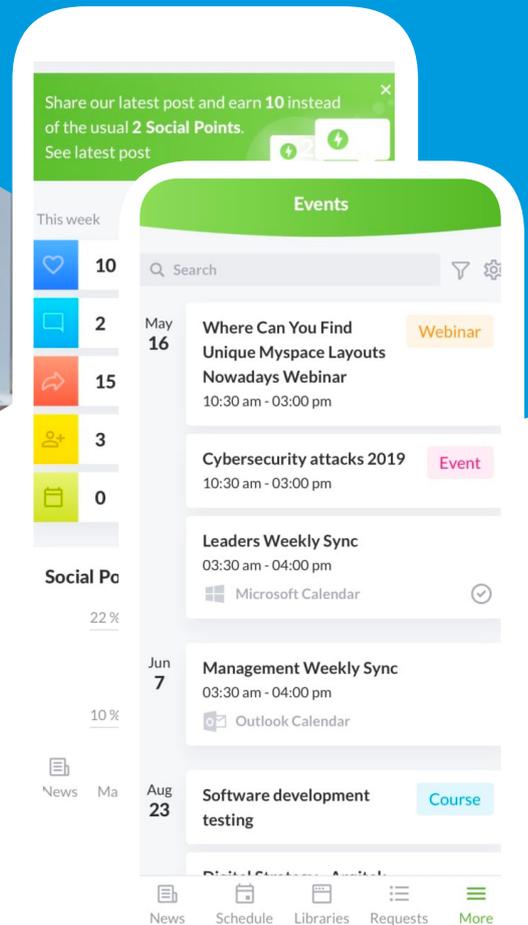

Automation

Build your own process within hours

Submit your project business case to get the required feedback and approval to create the project in any project management system.

- Business process creation
- Stages and criteria
- Actions & Activities
- Tendering system
- Integration with external system
- Comments and chat

StemeXe is one of only a few world-wide applications that enables you to build your process within hours (without coding).

Engagement

Get your business users to your digital workplace

All users will create, view, and update their activities from a state-of-the-art task management solution that will read and write to your project management. All the approval requests will come into a central place for the users' prompt action.

- My activities
- Assigned activities
- Share activities
- Service catalogue
- Action centre

stemeXe

Contact us:

info@exceeders.com

info@exceedgulf.com

exceeders
The World Premium IT Hub